

The Commonwealth

London Summit 2025

Young Leaders for Arts and Health

Friday 22 August 2025, 1300–1700 (1230 arrival),
Marlborough House, London

Join us for a global gathering of young innovators, academics, creatives and policy-makers, shaping the future of health through arts, culture and creativity.

This summit, co-produced by the Commonwealth Secretariat and the Global Arts for Medicine Fellowship, will showcase youth-led innovation and explore how the arts can transform public health, amplify community voices and drive systems change across the Commonwealth and beyond.

The programme features a keynote address by the Commonwealth Secretary-General, performances from emerging and established creatives, an expert panel on policy and practice, and interactive breakout sessions led by young global leaders.
